

I enjoy my XM radio tremendously! However, while I would like a little more local information, I don't want to have to start paying for commercials that I get locally. I would rather not have weather service if I have to pay for the extra programming.

I purchased XM for the express purpose of having relatively few commercials. Having local programming, in my opinion, would introduce an entirely different medium. I don't listen to local programming because of the commercials and constant interruptions.

Broadcasting local events like festivals, concerts, local town hall meetings, city councils, high school sporting events is a good idea?. however, I already get that programming?FREE!

The question is, should they have the right to broadcast these events. My answer is, YES. Will I pay for them when I get them free? Probably NOT.

Sincerely,
Scott Duran
